

Now we will do the same request, but with the 'compute to data' archetype

Afterwards it shows how now different services will be created only on each data provider

The results will be send back one by one